The other portions of the latter were quite as damaging to he peak ion as in the fact fire published. Item is the result of the peak ion as in the fact fire published. Item is the result of the peak ion as in the fact fire published. On the recollected that I, in my article No. 4, in reply to his language just above quoted, brought him directly to taw, in these words:

All I have to say in reply to this is, that if I, or Gov. Brown, or Hon. Linton Stephens, of the Georgia Legislature, in their action at the extra session of 1884, made "tear upon the Confederate Adminis-

His only escape, consistently with its character, is upon the ground that he did not stand to the principles and sentiments so announced by him, for the space of "one hour." of the truin of the assertion with I made it, does that constitute fulsehood on my part? According to all standard writers on law and morals, and according to the universal good sense of mankind, "fulsehood" can never be justly charged upon any one for stating what he believes to be true, especially if there be inct had under consideration the appointment of the Commissioners, under the Blair proposition, (and which ended in the Hampton Roads Conference) was the fact that Mr. Hill had himself told me a night or two before Mr. Davis sen under consideration, that he was going to Georgia, and took leave of me according

Mr. Hill's remark about this compilation is in character with himself. I simply furnished Mr. Cleveland with copies of my speeches as they had been previously pubsubject myself to the just charge of falsehood, even though he did not go, as he

But whether a party, who attempts to fix fact stated in this speech has ever been questioned from that day to this, so far as I have heard. In my opinion, the blunder of the Administration in not using cotton, as they might and could, before it was too late, was only one of the antifrance of it, is free himself from a tepitude of some sort, I leave to the public

Was this any cause of "hate" or "grudge" on my part towards him! No! On the alter of "hate" or "grudge" on my part towards him! No! On the alter of "hate" or "grudge" on my part towards him! No! On the alter of Tisiphone no offerings were ever presented by me. Malice I can cherish towards no buman being. It is tro Rah no devide of part of the state of th

Why wait ten years to give me the information? According to his account, his visit here was a "brave undertaking on his part, to make a patriot of the Vice-President!"

3d. Mr. Hill begins this new "chapter in Confederate history" by assigning the confederate history" by assigning the confederate of the vice-President in Confederate history" by assigning the confederate of the vice-President in Confederate history" by assigning the confederate of the vice-President in Confederate history" by assigning the confederate of the vice-President in Confederate history" by assigning the confederate of the vice-President in Confederate cause was too that the Confederate cause was lost because my plan of buying up cotton was not adopted. In this he errs. In No. 5 I only maintained that Mr. Davis had said that our failure was owing to a very different cause from that asserted by Mr. Hill in his "Historical Address." Mr. Davis had said that the failure of our finances was the failure of our cause, and that this failure might have been prevented if a proper plan had been adopted for the purchase by the

3d. Mr. Hill begins this new "chapter in Confederate history" by assigning as a reason for his "bold tetreat" or "retrement," as it is called from my further contest in this conhoversy over those portions of his "Historical Address" reviewed by me in this series of Articles, what he claims to be a pending question of veracity between us, growing out of what I said in my first Article about his absence from Richmond pending the consideration of the appointment of commissioners to the Hampton Roads Conference. On this point he claims that he has shown me to be a "liur," and guilty of a most "maticious falsehood"—that he has outlawed" me from the pale of truth, and that henceforth I am utterly unworthy of belief, &c.

This is certainly most ludic ous retext for such a bold and extraordinary retreat in view of the facts of the case. Suppose I did say he was not in Richmond when he was, feeling fully assured of the truth of the assertion when I made it, does that constitute falsehood on my part? According to all standard a party in opposition to the administra plan was entirely different from mine. Its avowed object was the relief of planters by issuing Treasury notes for cotton, and thus inflating the currency. This was the scheme which General Toombs opposed and defeated. But my plan was to buy the cotton with eight per cent. bonds, with several was to run and by which the currenof using cotton in any way proposed, and especially Col. R. W. Johnson, of Arkansas, who was a most zealous advocate of the cotton policy, in some shape or other, could first get the approval and co-operation of the administration. These are the facts of the case, and if anybody has the curiosity to investigate them further, I refer him to Cleveland's compilation of

But I ask again, with emphasis, what act of the Legislature—what part of Gov.

Brown's message—what part of the resolution of my brother, Hon. Linton Stephens, on conscription, impressments, suspension of habeas corpus, or what part of pension of habeas corpus or what part of pension of habeas corpus or what part of mad—I will not say "insancly mad," but rather Satanically entaged, when he rather Satanically entaged, when he rather Satanically entaged. ens, on conscription, impressments, suspension of habeus corpus, or what part of my speech delivered on that occasion, had he not previously substantially and cordially approved in principle, in his letter of the 14th of March? I had called upon liim to specify any portion of cither of these that he had not thus approved. He responds to this call only so far as the speech is concerned. This, in general terms, he characterizes as "a most vindictive tirade satistic every leading measure of the Congress adopted to carry on the war." His specifications, however, are confined to the following quotations from the speech:

"Without liberty—I would not turn upon my heels for independence. I scorn all independence which does not secure liberty.

"I warn you also against another fatal delusion, commonly dressed up in the fascinating language, of, if we are to have a master, who would not prefer to have a master, who would not prefer to have a Southern one to a Northern oney Use no such language. Use no such language. Countenance none such. * * * I would not turn on my heel to choose masters. I was not born to acknowledge a master from either the North or the South!"

'horrible' portion of the message and this speech were circulated by the Re-publicans in the Northern Presidential campaign of 1864, to prove that the Connd spread over the North that 'Gov Brown, of Georgia, sent a message to the Legislature against the Confederate laws which rällied in its support every disaffected and disappointed man in the Confederacy. This message was supported by Vice-President Stephens."

Now on these points, what had he said.

Now on these points, what had he said to me in his letter ? Here are his exact words:
"1. To the legal principles you announce I agree. I intimate as much in my speech. I will never agree that the militury, as such, from the commander-in-chief down, can take charge of and con-trol the citizen. Civilians must be governed, and governed only by civil tribu-nals. New York, Jine 27.—At a communition on the Tilton letter last evening by Rev. Henry Ward Beecher and several friends, Mr. Beecher is reported to have said that personally he was opposed to saying anything publicly in reply to Tilton's charges. He believed the only diffect of the utterance would be to prolong the discussion of the case, while it silence was preserved an end would be speedily reached. He assured the gentleman this leaning toward a silent policy no way caused by any lear of consequences to himself by a discussion. His desire was simply to get out of the difficulty with as little injury as possible. He knew by speaking he could end the matter so far as he was personally concerned, but he also thought continued sheade on his part would shortly have the same effect and entertaining that opinion, he could see nothing to be gained by any demonstration.

Professor Raymond admired the forbearance Beecher had all along exhibited in this matter, and was sure the congregation did the same, but thought it questionable whether forbearance had not now ceased to be a virtue. It was, he knew, a Christian duty to be magnanimous, but the question in his mind was whether pussillanimity we trust, my be pardoned for a few words in reference to the "fourth estate." We had long known that it enjoyed the reputation of being the best in the South, but our acquaintance with the members was limited until the present occasion. We are not surprised at the event occasion. We are not surprised at the event occasion. They are generally young, active, vigilant and intelligent gentlemen, who give their time and brains to their profession. They are aggressive and progressive, and their sole object it seems is to advance the interests of our grand old Commonwealth. They are a glorious set of fellows, and we shall take occasion hereafter to meet with them as often as possible. There was not a ingle incident

TO MAR THE FESTIVITIES, and we doubt if there has ever been a larger or more pleasant gathering of the State press. On Wednesday night "sherry and champagne" were served in profusion, and not a single member gave any evidence of "weakness." On the Thursday trip not a "weakness." On the Thursday trip not a drop was carried along, without it was done on the sly, which proves that the press gang is a sober set of fellows. While this is true, it cannot be denied but what they are a pretty good set of "feeders." After a big supper Wednesday night and a light break fast next morning, they were prepared for a late dinner on the boat Thursday. Appetities were keen and as chickens rose the

By 10 o'clock A. M. Thursday morning the excursion arrived in Rome agreeable to the published programme, where the steamer Magnolia was in waiting to take the quill drivers "down the river." At 11 o'clock the steamer moyed from her whest and has ded mer moved from her wharf and headed the magnificent Coosa, a capital of Atlanta playing in excellent style.

The boat went down the river some twenty-five miles, where she turned back and headed for the "Hill Caty." The scenery was beautiful, and the river in the boating order, and the Marnella glided non-like a wan. Maste was dispensed fiberally in well.

The vestibule of the post-office has been completed. The frescoing was done by the Krueger Brothers, artists in fresco and entered austic paintings, and the painting by Joseph Gordon. We believe that the Atlanta post-office is the only office in the United States that has a vestibule; certain it is that none have as beautiful a vestibule.

Mr. Gordon has contracted to pay $125 per annum for three years, renewing the work every year, for the privilege of renting out positions for advertisements. Atlanta the Summer Resort. Special correspondence Savannah News. ATLANTA, June 25, 1874. The heat and mosquitoes have driven me, as they have driven many others, from the seaboard to the hill-country, and as I shall have plenty of idle time on my hands for some weeks to come, I shall devote a part of it, with your permission, to an occasional correspondence with the Morning News.

According to the thermometer, the heat is quite as great here as it is in your own Forest City. It is not, however, so debilitating or exhausting as it is in the low country. The altitude of Atlanta above the sea is about eleven hundred feet. This gives the denizens of this go-ahead town a purer and more invigorating atmosphere, which, though not tempered by the salt-ladened breezes The heat and mosquitoes have driven me not tempered by the salt-ladened breezes from the opean, nevertheless prevents lassitude, and enables one to do a good day's work; without much fatigue. The great need of Atlanta, however, as a summer resort, however, are suitable hotels and boarding houses. The hotels are ample, but, unfortunately, they are located in the hottest and noisiest part of the city, and the water given to their guests is far from good. The place is filled with boarding houses, but with exceptions, they are small and inconvenient, as well as badly located. And yet, with all these drawacks, Atlanta as a summer resort is much more desirable than any watering s much more desirable than any waterin

The Kimball House is enough in itself to make the most melancholy happy, but to waltz over its smoothest of ball room floors, to promenade through its elegant corridors and to enjoy an innocent little flirtation "with a friend," as you saunter around its arcades, is the very acme of youthful bliss. The music could not have been missed, raing, and the refreshments offered were very refreshing.

Although the ball was given by young men, we noticed several married ladies and gouldenen present, and judging from them, we concluded that matrimony had a very pleasing effect on both looks and temper.

Colonel Nicholls was the gallant host and smiling gentleman that he always is, and Mrs. Nicholls, though she did not enter the ball-room, looked even more charming and amiable than usual.

The young ladies from Staunton were not argely represented, but those who did attend the ball were very lovely, and scemed to appreciate the compliment paid to them exceedingly, as did the "risting young ladies," who, one and all, voted the gentlemen who gave it—"just toody." Station House Report.

Everything but the whisky business was dull yesterday. The police, however, had their hands full. Sixteen arrests were made for violation of the ordinances. Drunkeness and using profane and vulgar language were the most popular offenses. None of these cases present anything of thrilling public interest. A negro who stole a coat from Mes Ohen & Selig, Saturday night, was turned over to the Sheriff, a true bill having been found against him. No State arrests were made during the day.

blemish. He took no back-pay; he is sound on the currency question, on civil rights—in short, no manner of fault_lics at his door. We have but to announce the well-known name of Thomas Collins. Mr. C. registered last night at the National, where he will be delighted to see bis numerous friends.

The Direct Trade movement is opening in carnest. We are pleased to learn that the arnest. We are pleased to learn that the loard of Directors have selected the Hon. Wm. Lawton, of Charleston, South Carolina as their Liverpool agent. This is the most inportant agency, as Liverpool is the largest cotton market in the world. The Directors of the "Direct Trade Union" have shown their sagacity in selecting Mr. Lawton as their agent. He is a high-toned gentleman of the old school, and has always ranked one of the liest and best innanciers, of that arge class of business men, which Charles ton has produced. For many years before the war he was the head of a large and suc large class of business men, which Charleston has produced. For many years before the war he was the head of a large and suecossful factorage and commission house for the sale of long cotton and rice, and for a long time a director in the Bank of Charleston, the largest and most important bank in the Southern States. Under the old regime
he served many terms in the South Carolina Legislature, and was for years at the head of the Agricultural Society of that State.
His business acquaintance in England is very extensive, and, having been for several summerstince the war, located in Liverpool superintending the sales of Sea Island cotton for the planters of the sea coast and Floridas, he is thoroughly acquainted with the modes and customs of English business. Direct trade and immigration have been with him an almost life-long study, and he has been intimately identified with every movement in that direction. His great speech on that subject, delivered before the National Agricultural Convention at St. Lonis in 1872, has been published in pamphlet form and distributed throughout the Southern States. Mr. Lawton is not one of those who seizes upon any popular idea as a hobby to ride to the goal of personal success or agrandizement, but one whose past history shows a constant struggle to realize he greatest good for his own people. Conservative in principle, but progressive in idea, and fertile in resource,
he is the right man in the right place.
He will go immediately to Europe.
Colonel Charles H. Oimstead has received the appointment of agent at Savannah. The choice of this gentleman is also one of the best that could have been made. A christian gentleman of the highest honor and tian gentleman of the highest honor and strictest integrity, his well-known business capacity renders him thoroughly fitted for this important agency. He was for a number of years a member of the firm of Brig-ham, Baldwin & Co., one of the largest ommission houses in Savannah. His war ecord stands well. He commanded at Fort ulask during the memorable siege of that shot reached the magazines. It the directors are as fortunate in all their selections agents as they have been in this gentlem and Mr. Lawton we predict for the "Director Trade Union," not only a certain, but immediate and lasting success.

Atlanta.

So the manufacture of the Calhoun Liver and Anti-Bilious Pills, under the supervision and assistance of Dr. Calhoun himself. This Pill has been in use for the last 38 years, and has taken precedence over all other Family preparations by all that have used them. Thousands would certify to their great value if necessary. One fact should supercede any amount of certificates, and that fact is this: Dr. Calhoun has been physician to the Fulton County Prison for over seven years, when the number of prisoners ranged from 30 to 70, laboring under all the diseases incidental to this climate. With but few exceptions they have all been treated with this Pill, and astonishing to say during that long period not a solitary death occurred under his treatment. This fact is worth any amount of testimonials.

I am now prepared to fill orders from druggista, merchants and others. All orders sent me shall receive prompt attention. There is no type of FEVER, DYSPEPSIA, DIARRHEAD DYSENTERT, RHEUMA-TISM, CHOLERA MORBUS, BILIOUS-NESS and SIUK HEADACHE, or other diseases of a Southern climate, but yield readily to this preparation.

GAZETTEER OF THE STATES

No book has ever been published of such universal interest to the American people. It appeals to no particular class alone, but to all classes; to men and women of all professions, creeds, occupations and political opinions—to Farmers, Lawyers, Business Men, Mechanics, Physicians, Politicians, Teachers, Students, Manufacturers, Salesmen, men of learning, and men who can only read, to old and young. All want it as a book of constant reference, and to preserve for their children and children's children as the only complete and reliable work showing the gigantic results of The First One-Hundred Years of the Greatest Republic the World Ever Saw. It is not a luxury but a necessity to every well-informed American citizen. Agents make $100 to $300 per month. Send for circular. ZEIGLER & McCURDY, Philadelphia, Pa. OFFICIAL.

Summer Excursions. THE first of a series of Summer Excursions will leave Atlanta Thursday, July 2nd, 1874 for Hatchers' Springs, thirty miles south of Rome, on the Cooss River, with schedule as follows:

WHITE CLIFF SPRINGS

THE Proprietor of "Mouse Creek Hotel," Mouse Creek, East Tenneasee, has purchased the Hotel property, at this favorite Summer resort, and has erected one of the largest and most convenient Hotels found at any Watering Flace in the South, which is now open for the reception of guests, and assures the public, that nothing will be left undone to make this one of the most pleasant and delightful Summer Resorts in the Southern States for the pleasure-seeker and invalid. The Springs are situated on Chilhowe Mountain, Monroe county, East Tennessee, sixteen miles from Mouse Creek—the nearest point from the Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia Raifroad.

They are located at an elevation of 1,300 feet above Conasangs Valley, in a dry, pure and very invigorating atmosphere—affording an extensive and beautiful view of the surrounding country, whose scenery is unsurpassed.

An eminent physician of over thirty years' practice will have an office in the Hotel.

Excursion Tickets will be out on sale at all prominent Southern points to these Springs, via Mouse Creek, at reduced rates. The proprietor will run a daily line of Hacks between Mouse Creek and the Springs, making connections with trains. Fare, one way $3.00, round trip $3.00.
